

Post-Doctoral Fellowship 2023-2024

The University of New Mexico's Center for Regional Studies (CRS) is pleased to announce the availability of a post-doctoral research fellow position. The Center for Regional Studies is a multidisciplinary outreach center designed to enhance the work of the University of New Mexico through student fellowships, research, program funding, visiting scholars, digital media and other projects with a particular emphasis on activities that increase our understanding of New Mexico, the U.S. Mexico Borderlands, the Americas, and Spain.

The CRS post-doctoral research fellow position is a 12-month appointment (July 1, 2023 – June 30, 2024) open to a UNM Ph.D. graduate who will have completed their degree prior to July 1, 2023. The position will be solely with CRS. The post-doctoral fellow must be in residence for the duration of the appointment period, present their research to the UNM and broader larger community near completion of the appointment, and submit a final report to the CRS Director by July 31, 2024.

Stipend/Resources:

- The stipend is $48,000 (for 12-month appointment)
- Additional $2,000 provided for research, travel, and related expenses
- CRS will provide office space
- CRS will provide a faculty mentor to work with on research

Qualifications:

- Ph.D. completed prior to July 1, 2023
- Area of study in an academic discipline aligned with the CRS mission and areas of research
- Promise for original scholarship in an area associated with the CRS mission

Application Materials:

Complete applications will include the following:

- Current curriculum vitae (CV)
- Personal statement (3-5 pages) that addresses educational goals, professional plans, and interest in the post-doctoral research fellowship as it relates to the CRS mission
- Research plan (3-5 pages) for the 12-month post-doctoral fellowship appointment
- One writing sample (10-20 pages) of original work (i.e. dissertation chapter, article, reports)
- Three recommendation letters from faculty in the applicant's academic home department or dissertation committee

Assemble all materials and supporting documents into a single PDF file and submit to crsunm@unm.edu no later than November 4, 2022.
