Native Curriculum Partnership Graduate Assistant

The Center for Regional Studies, Department of Native American Studies, and the Institute for American Indian Education is seeking a GRADUATE ASSISTANT (GA) for the Fall 2022 and Spring 2023 semesters to assist with the implementation of our Native Curriculum Partnership (NCP). Application is open until filled.

The Graduate Assistant (GA) will work 10 hours per week at a 25% FTE appointment for both fall 2022 and spring 2023 semesters. Salary is $1,008.77/month or about $25.22/hour and includes a tuition waiver up to 6 credit hours.

The GA's duties and responsibilities include:

- supporting the film director with research and production of two short films for the K-12 Indigenous Film Curriculum and New Mexico PBS,
- supporting participating faculty with research for the creation and implementation of the NCP professional development workshops,
- maintaining and strengthening the IndigNM website,
- performing other miscellaneous responsibilities tied to the partnership.

Start date for position: October 3, 2022

Who is eligible: Graduate students who have demonstrated an interest in Native American Studies, American Indian Education, Regional Studies, Southwest Studies, or Film and Documentary Studies.

Candidates must have:

- Excellent organizational skills,
- Computer and website building skills,
- Must be enrolled for a minimum of six credit hours in the Fall 2022 and Spring 2023 semesters, have at least a 3.0 grade point average, and be within the time limit for degree completion.

NOTE: Out-of-state students awarded GAs are eligible for the resident UNM tuition rate provided the FTE is 25% or higher and they hold the assistantship for at least one-half of the semester. The tuition waiver may only be used for courses approved by the graduate program in which the student is currently enrolled.

How to apply: Applicants should submit a letter of interest, a two–page CV, and the names and contact information of three references. Please include both telephone number and e-mail contact information.

The letter of interest should address the following:

- Rationale for working with the Native Curriculum Partnership; background (including coursework or research) in Native American Studies, American Indian Education, Regional Studies, Southwest Studies, or Film and Documentary Studies;
- Computer proficiency and organizational skills;
- Experience working in diverse settings and multi-tasking.

Applications are being accepted now.
